

The issue of “net neutrality” is one which should not be changed from what it is now. In 1934 the FCC used as one of its main themes: “in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.”

Getting rid of “net neutrality” goes against that theme. Completely against.